English for Specific Purposes

focused on helping learners develop language skills tailored to a specific field

BENEFITS:

- Relevance

learners focus only on the English they need for their goals - making it more engaging and useful

- Efficiency

time and effort are spent learning vocabulary, grammar, and skills that are directly applicable to their studies

- Motivation

students are often more motivated because they clearly see how the course benefits their career or education

- Skill Integration

ESP often includes reading, writing, listening, and speaking tasks related to real-world scenarios, enhancing practical language use

- Faster Progress

because the content is highly targeted, learners can often achieve functional proficiency more quickly than in a general English course

eCourses

Additionally, each field of study at the university and each language group has its own group on the university's e-courses, where students can find all the information about the course, study materials, and links to videos and audio recordings.

Students can also engage in discussions on the portal.

They have access to the course at any time and can practice at their own pace by completing various online exercises.

Polish Language Team

coordinator of the section: Justyna Połomka, M.A. & Barbara Tako, M.A.

- International students have a possibility to participate in a multi-level course of the Polish language. The course is designed to take students from their first introduction to Polish up to a fully proficient use of the language.
- The 40 hour course includes grammar syllabus that covers the essential language and extensive vocabulary development. A lot of communicative activities provide variety in class and make the course easy and enjoyable.
- The cross-cultural context of classes provide stimulating input, making learning interesting and relevant to today's world.
- Every semester, a week before the beginning of the term the Centre of Languages and Communication runs Orientation Week. Orientation Week is a splendid opportunity to get to know fellow students, break the ice and learn about Polish culture, history and geography.
- Students take part in different cultural events, enjoy the sightseeing of Poznań and the city neighbourhood and discover the beauty of Poland.
